

Jarrah

One of the most common species of eucalyptus trees grown in Western Australia, predominately in the South Western corner. Jarrah has a colour range of colours from light red to brown, from to dark red brick colour.

As with all timbers its colour changes or “warms” with exposure to light. Jarrah is a drought resistant tree making it ideal for Australian climate.

Jarrah is a very durable timber to use in flooring.

Parquetry Flooring Company uses Jarrah for Parquetry, solid timber and engineered planks.

J

arra

Botanical Name: *Eucalyptus

marginata

Family : *Myrtaceae

Photos compliments of Parquetry Flooring